Lesson Recap

Over the past year we have learned that God created everything, showed us how to live with Him, saw how sin broke the world, and planned from the very beginning to send Jesus to save us through His death and resurrection. The Bible tells us the story is not over yet—God will return, remove evil, and make a new heaven and new earth where everything is made right again, like the Garden of Eden. In this new world there will be no sickness, pain, fighting, storms, death, or loneliness, and God will live with His people and be our light. God promises that He is "making everything new," and we can trust Him because He always keeps His promises. Heaven will be a real place God prepares for His children, with perfect peace, restored bodies, healed relationships, and joy forever. Those who believe in Jesus are called God's children, their names are written in His book of life, and they will live with Him forever. Even though life on earth can be hard right now, we have hope because God has a plan, Jesus has saved us, and one day everything broken will be fully restored.

Habit Builder

A habit you can build from this lesson is ending each day by reminding yourself of God's promise to make all things new.
Each day, take a quiet moment (even 1–2 minutes) to:

- Thank God for one good thing from your day
- Tell Him about one hard or broken thing you noticed
- Remind yourself: "God is making everything new, and I can trust Him."

This habit helps you practice hope, trust, and connection with God, even on hard days, and keeps your focus on His promises instead of what feels broken right now.
